SATURDAY'S OGDEN GAME.

"Pot" Cline of the All Hallows Tells How It Was Done.

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

In the absence of the captain I have been appointed by the team to give an account of All Hallows' game on Saturday.

The strength of the team was principally employed in fighting the little, thin dark man, in new leather leggings, called the referee, for the following reasons: Ogdren repeatedly had the privilege of calling four downs, three for play and one for courage and pot.

The yard stick moved at will at the imperious command of the little dark official, three yards being considered as good as five. Fumbles were not to be granted to the visiting team unless the man's body could cover every square inch of surface on the ball. On one occasion the honest little dark referee declared that the ball belonged to a particular Ogdrenite in a black sweater who did not happen to be in the scrimmage at all.

The nervousness and anxiety of the little dark referee manifested itself frequently in such exclamations as: "I am watching them, Captain Thoresen, if they do it again I will give it to them," and the All Hallows man was threatened with dire calamity if he did not do as he was told. These were ever recurring decisions, given particularly at critical stages of the game.

The Ogdrenite's object was to have the little dark referee, while they were appointed as referee the little dark man who had been their coach.

As a compromise All Hallows had the consolation of choosing as their official another Ogdren man, who confessedly knew nothing about football and referred all decisions to the little dark referee. The Ogdren linesman declared that he had a "snap" and was playing a good game for the home team.

The little dark referee would stand no insinuation and in close quarters had the habit of bringing his hand to his left pocket. East hall was indulged in, as All Hallows had made one touchdown in about three minutes. Time was promptly taken up, if necessary, to stop such unparliamentary proceedings as fast ball.

We imagine the little dark referee returning thanks on Sunday for having been providentially helped to down the hated foreigners, and help the land of Israel clear of the invasion of the Madianites.

Let it be said, however, that from Manager Fletcher and Captain Thoresen, the Ogdren boys were gentlemen. They treated the All Hallows boys with courtesy, and played a good game of football. The little dark referee did not mean to lower their spirits, nor are they to be blamed for accepting decisions when they knew there was a spirit of mercy guiding them at critical times.

All Hallows would be pleased to play their return game in Salt Lake, free from the howling mob and the signals that would down the signals and bring confusion into the ranks of the hated intruders, and particularly from the decisions of the little, thin, dark referee in new leather leggings.

Salt Lake, Nov. 4. "POT" CLINE.

COMPLETE SCORES.

The Standing of the Five Big Colleges to Date.

Appended is a list of all the games played up to date by the five leading eastern colleges, with the number of points scored in each game, as well as the total score. It will be noticed that Pennsylvania has scored the greatest number of points, and also has the greatest number of points scored against her. Yale has the best record, but this is due to the fact that she has not met any of the larger teams yet this season. Harvard, who after defeating Pennsylvania on Saturday, is now acknowledged the strongest team among the big five, stands third in the number of points scored, but has lost and defeated Columbia, Carleton and Pennsylvania.

Cycle Racing Stopped.

A couple of would-be ambitious cycle racing men were to have held a match at Agricultural park yesterday afternoon, but the appearance of icy weather prevented the race. It appeared that the race would have been held in the habit of congregating at this park on Saturdays, and some of the residents in the vicinity have complained to the authorities that they were creating a disturbance, and yesterday afternoon a telephone message to police headquarters brought the special bike policeman to the scene, who stopped the race and sent the riders home.

REPORTS FROM HOME

General Randall Tells of Conditions in the North.

BEACH IS WORKED OUT

TUNDRA REQUIRES EXPERIENCE AND CAPITAL.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Brigadier General George M. Randall, commanding the Department of Alaska, under date of September 28, St. Michael, has submitted his annual report. Much space is devoted to conditions at Nome, which he found on his arrival at a critical stage. It was difficult to obtain convictions by jury trial in the United States commissioner's office, which emboldened the lawless. Labor organizations prevented men from working for less than $1 an hour, he says, and they were the cause of much destitution and want, and destruction of property.

The sanitary conditions were placed under the charge of Major Charles E. Ebert, surgeon. The energetic efforts of the military improved these conditions.

Beach Worked Out Last Year.
There were about 500 men working on the beach at Nome with machinery at one time, and many declined to give answers concerning the prospects for gold, while they awaited the purchase of the beach. The beach was practically worked out last year. The tundra is believed to be rich, but the equipment is larger than that to produce results. There is a large area of country which has not been prospected, where gold can yet be found, but it requires men of experience to develop a country.

General Randall says it has been decided to establish a permanent military station on the island of St. Michael. He also recommended that two stern wheel steamers for operations on the Yukon and that all coal, forage and building material intended for Alaska be started from Seattle, not later than June 15, and shipped in sailing vessels for economy. Also, that a cable be laid from Seattle, via Juneau and Skagway, to Valdez, connected with the telegraph line now building over the all-American route from Valdez to Port Ebert, and down the Yukon river to St. Michael. When this line is complete, General Randall says, military headquarters should be in southern Alaska or at Seattle.

He recommends a life-saving station in the vicinity of Nome. He also recommends that high houses with fog whistles be established in southeast Alaska, at the following places: Cape Cook, near the southern boundary; Cape Chukchee, entrance from the north into Congas Narrows; Five Fingers, in Frederick Sound, also a fog signal at Unimak Pass. He also recommends a military reserve of Dutch labor, connected with the telegraph line, and a coaling station, and thinks that the need may arise at some future time for erecting fortifications at this place.

Esquimaux Are Starved.
General Randall, speaking of the natives of Alaska, says that the Eskimos have been unnoticed by the white men he has befriended, and has been allowed to die for lack of care and food. From all points reports have been received of sickness, starvation and mortality so great that it promises to wipe out almost the entire race. Lieutenant T. H. Jarvis of the United States military reserve reported that the Eskimos, and the tug Meteor was placed at his disposal for relief work, and about 100 destitute natives cared for at Nome. The revenue cutter Bear has been distributing supplies to the natives, while others in the vicinity of St. Michaels have been cared for by the commanding officer at that post. W. J. L. Jarvis is highly commended.

In closing this particular feature of his report, General Randall says:

"In many parts of the United States provisions have been made for the Indians. Reservations have been set apart for them, and food and clothing supplied. In Alaska it was not necessary to supply money, but the great rush of white men that followed the discovery of gold has completely changed everything. The game and fur-bearing animals have about disappeared, and the natives' means of sustenance are gone.

"I, therefore, recommend that the government afford some relief to the natives until such time as they can take care of themselves."

Opposes Aid to White Men.

General Randall also has this to say regarding relief to the white men who ventured into Alaska:

"I am of the opinion that it would be a mistake for the government to give any general aid in the future to the venturesome classes of white men who come to Alaska. About 300 have been sent out on transports and other vessels this year, and many more will be sent here the class of men. The conditions are now generally known throughout the states, and the expectation of government aid in returning to their homes in case of failure has without doubt been the most hopeful prospect in view to a considerable number who have come to the country since 1897, and especially in the recent rush to Nome."

DEATH OF THATCHER

Stirring Address to the Voters of Cache.

THE ISSUES AT STAKE

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO BRYAN AND THE DEMOCRACY.

(Special Correspondence.)
Logan, Nov. 4.—Moses Thatcher made the finest speech of the present campaign in Cache at Richmond last night. A magnificent audience greeted him, and when he appeared he was tendered an ovation which lasted several minutes. Mr. Thatcher came out squarely for Bryan, stating that he stood behind him as firmly now as he did in 1896. He eulogized the great silver leader in most eloquent language, commending him for his unflinching devotion to every principle that he had laid down in 1896 as true. "On Nov. 6," said he, "we will settle the question as to whether this country shall be half free and half slave. Remember that he who would be free should have no slave."

"They tell you that the gospel must be preached to all men before the end shall come, and that in the imperial policy of the Republican administration there is offered a way for introducing the Word unto the Filipino. The gospel shall be spread, but after the manner of the Great Master, and not at the point of the bayonet or the mouth of belching artillery."

"They talk of it being a 'paying' proposition to keep the Philippines, but whom does it pay? The mother and father who offer up their sons upon an altar of exploitation and not one of liberty? Does it look like a 'paying' proposition for the toiler who will be brought into competition with 10,000,000 of black men, who live on 10 cents per day and work for 25 cents per day?"

The speaker here drew a vivid picture of the glorious work of our soldiers in the Philippines, Cuba, and then contrasted with it the treatment they received in the pestilence camps and on the ill-fated Sherman.

"Coming to the question of trusts he said: 'Monopoly is grinding from the toiler the products of his labor, and is slowly forging upon his weary limbs the fetters of industrial slavery. Think of the power of a Rockefeller! Last week the announcement came forth that a Salt Lake genius had invented a new system of lighting, superior to that of electricity, yet the discoverer of the wonderful secret must first reckon with Rockefeller before he can be assured of success, because the basis of his industry is petroleum, and Rockefeller controls the petroleum output of the United States, and can increase its price to any limit he chooses.'

"The Republicans boast of our present seeming prosperity, but what startles them? Not William McKinley, nor Mark Hanna, nor the Republican party. It was the man who blew up the Maine and set moving in this country the mills of industry to supply the wants of the army that was to crush and humiliate Spain. It was Joseph Chamberlain in England who precipitated the South African war, which made demands upon all our resources. These and the Chinese complications were what brought about the so-called prosperity. But the bills are yet to be paid, and it looks as if it will be the lot of a Democratic administration to begin the payment."

"They tell you that Bryan is insincere, but I tell you no more honest, sincere or true character has ever stood before his fellows than W. J. Bryan. If there is insincerity, it is upon our part. Bryan has not changed from his principles. He stands today for what he stood in 1896. If we have changed or modified our views it is we that are insincere."

Democrats stand for your principles, stand for the constitution, stand for equal rights to all men and for the perpetuity of American liberty. If you will do that, satisfaction and happiness will be your lot. You are for the gold standard and the day will speedily dawn when the enormity of your error will give you many a pang for the crime of 1873 is insignificant as to its effects compared with the crime of 1896. The Republican party would perpetrate."

When Mr. Thatcher closed he was cheered for several minutes. The speech had an almost magic effect on the minds of the audience, and increases in the Democratic majority will be the result.

FREIGHT WRECK ON RIO GRANDE

TRAIN ON PARK CITY BRANCH DERAILED IN THIS CITY.

Four Cars Left the Track and Were Smashed Up, Causing Blockade—No One Hurt.

A wreck occurred on the Park City branch of the Rio Grande Western at Ninth Street and Tenth East streets about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in which four freight cars were derailed, demolishing the trucks of the cars and blocking the track so that other trains could not pass for several hours.

The train crew was fortunately not on the derailed cars, and although they received a severe shaking up, no one received any injury.

The cause of the accident was a loose rail on the horseshoe curve which the track makes at that place. The cars that left the track were pulled almost around the curve, plowing up the ground and cutting up the ties for several hundred feet before the train could be stopped.

The train was made up of fourteen freight cars, most of which were loaded with ore from Park City. The engineer slowed up as he neared the curve and the first two or three cars began to curve all right, but suddenly one of the box cars near the center of the train jumped the track and pulled the three other cars with it. The engineer did not discover the accident until the cars ran along on the ties until they struck the sharp part of the curve.

The trucks of one of the box cars were then torn from the car, and the latter with its front end dug into the ground was dragged for fifty feet or more, tearing up the ground and track as it went. The coupling gave way, and the car was left with its front end dug into the earth and tipped almost over. Two other flat cars with their trucks wrecked from their places were piled up on the track behind it.

Before the engine could be stopped the last car on the part which broke loose was thrown almost over and nearly at right angles to the track. The noise made by the dragging cars sounded like the whole train was being torn to pieces, and an excited crowd of people came rushing from every direction. The engine and what cars were left on the track continued on to town and a wrecking crew was sent out at once to clear up the wreck.

The passenger train from Park City came down soon after, and finding the road blocked, the passengers left the train and took street cars to the city, and the train returned to Mill Creek.

Had Good Meetings.

Judge C. M. Nielsen and Attorney H. C. Lund returned yesterday from the southern part of the state, having spent several days campaigning in the interest of Democracy. Judge Nielsen was in Sevier, speaking to enthusiastic meetings at Redmond and Elsinore, the reception at the latter place being especially gratifying. The county chairman, D. P. Jensen, has organized his forces well, and although it is supposed to be a Republican stronghold, the Judge says there is a splendid prospect for a Democratic majority. Mr. Lund was at Chester and Wales in Sanpete county, and he states that both meetings were very successful from every point of view.
